Chapter 2
Neverland

Peter and the children flew out of the room and down the river – then out over the sea. They flew for many days and nights. They were hot, then cold, then hot again.

Once, Michael began to sleep. He fell down and down to the sea. Peter watched him and laughed!

The children couldn't fly fast, and they often hit clouds. Sometimes Peter was bored, so he flew away from them and had adventures. Many times, he nearly forgot about them!

cloud a big white or grey thing in the sky adventure something very exciting that happens to you fall (past fell) to go down suddenly throw to make something move from your hand through the air will the paper which says which people will have your money when you die

Dominoes Level 1, Peter Pan

Holmes smiles. 'That's interesting. But I must work now, and you must leave. Please close the door after you.'

Roylott does not leave. He walks to the chimney and takes the metal poker in his hands. He bends it quickly with his two big hands. Then he throws it down at his feet.

'I'm leaving because I want to leave, not because you tell me!' he cries angrily. 'Be careful, Mr Holmes!'

Then he walks out of the room, looking all the time at Holmes.

'My poor poker,' Holmes says quietly, walking to the chimney. He is not a big man, but he takes the poker and quickly unbends it again. Watson's mouth opens and Holmes begins to laugh.

'I'm not afraid of Roylott, Watson! But I need to know something about his wife's will. I'm going out now.'

32 47 Ronin: A Samurai Story from Japan

'I don't know,' called Yoshida. 'He wasn't in the rooms at the back of the house when we came through.'

'What about the family living rooms?' called Horibe. 'Let's look in there again.'

'We can't lose Kira now!' shouted Okuda. 'Come on!'

The ronin began to feel afraid. Where was Lord Kira? Was he still in the mansion somewhere? Or did he escape when the fighting began? They ran through the family rooms, looking everywhere. In Kira's sleeping-room Oishi put his hand on the bed-clothes.

'They're warm!' he shouted. 'The bed-clothes are still warm – he was here not long ago! Find him!'

Stage 1, 47 Ronin

16 A Midsummer Night's Dream

'Why don't you come and dance with us, and watch our moonlight celebrations?'

'Give me that boy, and I will,' said Oberon.

'No, not for all your Fairyland.' Titania turned away. 'Come, fairies, let's go. We will go on arguing if I see'.

'Why don't you come and dance with us?' said Titania.

The forest

Titania and her fairies flew away into the forest, their white lights dancing through the trees. Oberon stood after her. 'I'll make trouble for her for this,' he said to himself. He turned to Puck, who had come out from behind his tree.

'Come here, Puck,' said Oberon. He put his arm around Puck's shoulders. 'I showed you once, you remember, a little purple flower. It has a magic juice. When you put the juice on the eyes of a man or woman or horse, it makes them fall in love with the next thing they see. Fetch me that magic flower, Puck, and do it quickly.'

'I'll be round the world and back in forty minutes!' said Puck, and he disappeared into the tree tops.

Oberon smiled to himself. He would put some of this magic juice in Titania's eyes while she was sleeping. Then when she woke up, she would fall in love with the next thing she saw – lion or dog or horse. 'I can use another flower juice to take the magic away,' he said to himself. 'But before I do, I'll make her give me her little servant boy.'

There are voices in the forest, but these are the voices of humans – a man, angry, and a woman, crying – and they are coming closer. Humans cannot see fairies, so Oberon sits on the branch of a tree, to watch and to listen. . . .

Demetrius ran to the foot of the little hill, followed closely by Helena. He turned around angrily towards her. 'I don't love you,' he shouted. 'so don't follow me! Where are Lysander and Hermia? You told me they'd run away into this forest! Now go away, and stop following me.'

Stage 3, A Midsummer Night's Dream

THE OTIS FAMILY COMES TO CANTERVILLE

When Hiram B. Otis, the American businessman, bought the house called Canterville Chase, people told him that he was doing a very dangerous thing. Everybody knew that there was a ghost in the house. Lord Canterville himself told Mr Otis all about it.

'We don't like to live in the house ourselves,' he said. 'Too many of my family have seen the ghost. My wife's grandmother, the Duchess of Bolton, is one of them. One night, while she was dressing for dinner, two skeletons

'We don't like to live in the house ourselves,' Lord Canterville said.
